A ring of LEDs guides you to your friends. You can either see the directions towards each of them all at once or how far away you are to a single person. With a focus on reliability and intuitive interaction, Friend Finder is the perfect companion for your night out!

Losing friends on a night out is a common occurrence. Phones run out of battery, signal is hard to find, and people are too engrossed in the music to respond. Friend Finder solves this with its low power, wearable form, and one way location interface!
